

Dusty learns cactus packing

Dusty loved to hang out with Verne and do whatever he was doing. Verne spent a lot of time packing his plants. Little Dust Ball figured that a smart young kitten like herself could be a big help. She wanted to help Verne.

"This is a tape gun" Verne told her.

"This is bubble wrap" he said. Dust Ball knew how much fun that was!

"Oh, excuse me" Verne said. Little Dust Ball had fallen asleep on top of the wrapping paper.

"Don't worry baby, everything will turn out alright..." Verne sang the Beach Boys song to little Dust Ball as he stroked her head with his thumb.

"Always write down the customer's name before you seal the box and forget" Verne warned her. But Little Dust Ball had trouble holding the slippery plastic pen in her paw. Writing was not her strong suit.

"Now you put it into a box, right?" Dust Ball thought Verne did a good job.
