

Springtime cats

It was spring and Bobcat had only one thing on his little cat mind. Sure, he was fixed but he wasn't dead. Besides, Dusty was such an alluring feline...

Bobcat tried a quick sniff of Dusty but it was a no-go.

Springtime awoke strange primal urges in young Bobcat. He was neutered but that didn't stop his little cat brain from delighting in the smells of girl cats such as Dusty & Raccoony. He was fixed, but he wasn't dead. Fur drove him crazy.

Then, too, there was the warm sunlight pouring over sweet green hay that transformed fields into verdant jungles where field mice, gophers, and strange flying insects provided endless hours of cat fun. This was Bobcat's first ever spring and he was loving it!

